The Guy Zapoleon Top 1000 Los Angeles Singles of Modern Times

Guy Zapoleon is a 20-year-old UCLA psychology major with a rather odd hobby which has absorbed all his spare time since 1967: charting records and charting charts of records.

He started his charts early in 1967, shortly after his family had moved to Los Angeles from Stamford, Connecticut. His beginnings were the weekly Top 30 listings posted by KHJ, which at that time was (as it still is) the top-rated station in the area.

Precious Points

Week after week, Guy would pore over the additions, subtractions and relative movements of records within KHJ's tallies. As his collection of lists mounted, Guy developed a point system which could summarize the careers of records so they could be ranked relative to records from other time periods. A Number One record is awarded 30 points for each week it holds the position. Number Two records get 29, Number Threes 28 and so on down to Number 30, which gets one point per week. Thus a record which goes from 28 to 13 to 5 to 17 to 30 in five weeks would get $(3+18+26+14+1)$ 62 points for its career.

Also as his collection of lists mounted, Guy determined to broaden his base of data by researching past charts for his master listings.

Since KHJ had had a Top 30 format only since May of 1965, Guy had to leapfrog to another station for earlier figures. For approximately 6 months prior to the inception of the KHJ list, he relied on KRLA's tallies, inasmuch as KRLA was posting respectable ratings with a hit singles format during that period.

An Eternity of Transition

For some months in 1964 and the stretch of time back to 1958, though, there was one inevitable choice: KFVB, which dominated Los Angeles radio and defined the prevailing regional musical taste for what seemed like a musical eternity—the twilight of the 50s and the dawn of the 60s.

"Color Radio" was one title they had for their format, but it was color radio only in the sense that white is a color. During a time when black acts were finally gaining equal musical status nationally, KFVB was allowing very few raisins in the oatmeal of its music and those that slipped in slipped back out rather rapidly.

Guy Zapoleon arrived in Los Angeles too late to hear KFVB in its prime (it's now an all-news station, and doing well), but he did manage to get access to their charts, which he merged with his KRLA and KHJ figures to arrive at some all-time tabulations.

Fourteen Years' Worth of Weeks

Guy's master chart these days numbers 1,000 records, a list compiled from lists beginning in May of 1958 (he's been unable to find earlier surveys) and reaching all the way up to next week.

Since this accounting of the Top 1,000 derives from two primary sources, each of approximately equal weight (six and a half years of KFVB versus seven and a half years of KHJ, plus half a year of KRLA, whose content is closer to KHJ's than KFVB), and since the two sources display significant differences, even apart from their periods of time, the resulting list has a fascinating schizophrenic character.

KHJ is the flagship station of the Bill Drake programming chain and as a limb of an organization with national scope usually conforms fairly closely with the taste of the nation as revealed in trade paper charts, though KHJ also breaks and plays some purely regional hits.

The Rocker Meets the Popper

In addition, KHJ has always been a rock station—as opposed to a pop station, a term which comes closer to defining KFVB's one-time identity—and has consistently played a goodly portion of records which began as rhythm and blues or soul hits.

Another difference between the two sources which becomes apparent with a look at the Top 50 portion of the list is that KFVB's chart changed less rapidly than KHJ's did (and does), allowing the biggest KFVB hits to outpoint the biggest KHJ hits.

What follows is Guy's mid-summer 1972 Top 1,000, a list highly peculiar to Southern California because of KFVB's programming and charting techniques, because of the contrast between KFVB and KHJ and because (of course) of the natural strangeness of Los Angeles.

The schism between Mr. Zapoleon's various sources is easily spotted within the list, which Circular herewith reprints

- 1.) Because of its nostalgia value
- 2.) Because of the regional insights it offers
- 3.) Because of the programming insights it offers
- 4.) Because it's there.
- 5.) Because it might help Guy get a legit music biz job (write him in care of Circular).

Dr. Demento

How Not To Be a Boogie Bumbler, or Answer to Last Week's Question:

The recently-revived "Bumble Boogie" is, of course, an adaptation of a concert favorite, "Flight of the Bumble Bee," written by Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov (who would perhaps rather be remembered for Scheherazade). The original booglarization of the Bumblebee, however, was not B. Bumble's; the deed was first done, and the sting first stung, by Jack Fina, who recorded it with Freddy Martin's orchestra in the mid-1940s. (That recording, incidentally, was once credited by John Mayall with being his original inspiration to take up the piano.)

Question for Next Week

Throughout the history of pop music (but especially in 1958 and 1959) there have been certain artists who, not content with waiting for critics to bestow apt adjectives upon their musicianship, have gone ahead and done it themselves, right on the record labels. For the WB or Reprise single catalog album of your choice, be the first to accurately fill in the names that make the following artist credits complete. (Each of them, by the way, had at least one Top 10 record in the aforementioned biennium.)

- (a) _____ and his
Pumping Piano
(b) Duane Eddy and his
Twangy Guitar
(c) The Exotic Sounds of
MARITA DENNY

Good news for you Demento buffs . . . Those of you who are stumped by the Doc's demented mail service will henceforth have an extra week to get those answers in. This will give all of you future winners a chance to match wits with the doctor even if you get your Circular a bit late. No more excuses! Watch for next week's issue announcing the Dr. Demento three-weeks-ago winner.

Each week the good doctor poses a music lore question whose answer is the focus of his subsequent column. The earliest reply to his question (mailed to Dr. Demento, c/o Circular, Warner Bros. Records, 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, Calif. 91505) wins any single Warner/Reprise catalog album (please specify choice). Answers will be geographically pro-rated on the basis of two days per time zone, ties will be judged on the basis of penmanship, wit and lucidity. ■
